LexisNexis Quicklaw ... What's New?

Comprehensive Legislative Collection

LexisNexis has significantly expanded its legislative collection on the Quicklaw service to include updated legislation for all Canadian jurisdictions. Daily updating is maintained for statutes, regulations, and court rules from Canada (English and French), Alberta, British Columbia, and Ontario. LexisNexis provides regular updating for all other jurisdictions.

The following sources have recently been added to Quicklaw:

- Court rules for Canada (English and French) and all provinces and territories (with English and French collections for Quebec and New Brunswick)
- Nova Scotia Statutes
- Saskatchewan Statutes and Regulations (current version)
- New Brunswick Statutes and Regulations, in French
- Yukon Regulations

LexisNexis has expanded the following updated collections:

- Nunavut Statutes and Regulations
- Northwest Territories Statutes and Regulations
- Yukon Statutes and Regulations

Major Expansion of Administrative Tribunal Collection

LexisNexis is expanding its extensive Quicklaw collections of administrative tribunal decisions. The 58 new collections added in the past year (see list on last page) represent a wide range of areas of law, with particular enhancements made to the natural resources (10 federal and provincial tribunals), professional responsibility (10 provincial tribunals), and workplace health, safety, and compensation (8 provincial tribunals) collections. The Quebec collection grew considerably with the addition of 11 sources, and British Columbia's collections also increased by 11.

New Administrative Tribunal Citation

LexisNexis has introduced a new citation for administrative tribunal decisions. It is a companion citation to the well-recognized Quicklaw "J" citation, which is assigned to all court decisions reported by LexisNexis Canada.

The new tribunal citation is simple and elegant. For example, "2005 BC Trib 25 (ECB)" is the citation for the 25th decision issued by the British Columbia Expropriation Compensation Board in 2005.

The new citation is being assigned to all new collections of tribunal decisions added to Quicklaw. The LexisNexis Canada Citations Table in Quicklaw source CITE contains a complete list of the new tribunal citations.

LAW/NET™ Enhancements

The LAW/NET Legal Update Service on Quicklaw is more comprehensive than ever — and is now the source for precedent-setting or newsworthy court and tribunal decisions. LAW/NET has been dramatically enhanced, with more cases gathered and digested each day than ever before. Cases covered in 150 media sources are added to LAW/NET as soon as they can be obtained.

LAW/NET now contains every substantive Canadian court decision that is covered in a major Canadian newspaper; that is high profile, legally or factually significant, or precedent-setting; or that concerns a novel issue or area of law. LexisNexis legal editors select cases and provide concise lawyer-written summaries.

Case Law Collection Growth

LexisNexis has backdated and enhanced Quicklaw case law collections as follows:

- Ontario — Ontario Judgments (OJ), which includes full-text decisions since 1823, now contains 4,900 additional cases.
- British Columbia — British Columbia Judgments (BCJ) has been expanded with 12,200 additional cases. BCJ coverage dates from 1867 to the present.
- Alberta — Alberta Judgments (AJ), providing coverage since 1954, has been backdated with 900 additional cases.
- Privy Council — The Privy Council Cases (UKPC) collection has grown with the addition of the Richard A. Olmsted Collection of Privy Council Cases. The Olmsted collection includes all decisions appealed from Canada that related specifically to the construction and interpretation of the British North America Act, 1867.

Case Law Summary Collection Enhancements

LexisNexis now provides case law summaries for all important cases faster than ever before. Summaries for Supreme Court of Canada cases continue to appear online within one hour following a case's release, and other appellate court case summaries are posted within 24 to 48 hours. Summaries for other full-text court cases are added to Quicklaw faster than before, generally within two to four weeks of a case's release. Summaries are added to full-text cases in Canadian Judgments (CJ), so that a single search retrieves both the full text of the case and the case summary.

Lawyers at LexisNexis write summaries for all new English-language decisions, and for a growing percentage of French-language cases. All summaries are written in the language of the original judgment and in both languages when translations are available online. The Canadian Case Summaries collection (source CCS) now includes more than 382,000 unique summaries of cases since 1574.

Quickwords™ Case Classification System

Newer case law summaries on Quicklaw now include Quickwords, which increase researchers' ability to locate relevant cases. Quickwords are keywords representing common law and civil law concepts. Lawyers at LexisNexis have added Quickwords to all English- and French-language summaries in Canadian Case Summaries (CCS) written since January 2005. Quickwords will be applied to all case law summaries retrospectively on a topic-by-topic basis.
