INTRODUCING OUR NEW CONTENT LAWYER FOR THE CORPORATE MODULE

Sarah Eisen is the Content Lawyer for the Corporate Module of Lexis Practice Advisor Canada. She is a Certified In-House Counsel through the Rotman School of Management and the Canadian Corporate Counsel Association. She is also a certified privacy professional and has two designations from the International Association of Privacy Professionals (CIPP/C and CIPM).

Having worked in both private practice and in-house, Sarah understands the needs of a broad spectrum of legal professionals and believes the key is to develop materials that provide the practical guidance counsel are looking for, in a user-friendly format. She constantly draws on her own experience to ensure the Corporate Module meets the diverse and evolving needs of our users.

IN CASE YOU MISSED IT

Lawyering in the 21st Century – Succeeding Through Innovation

On May 15, 2017, a group of industry-leading legal professionals gathered in Toronto to share their expertise and experience at a one-day interactive forum organized and hosted by LexisNexis Canada and the Legal Innovation Zone at Ryerson University. The event offered a fresh, innovative, and informative look at the future of legal services to over 70 legal organizations that included law firms, corporations and legal startups.
