Lexis Advance® Quicklaw®

In Lexis Advance Quicklaw, all documents of the same type have a common structure, composed of the natural parts or divisions referred to as segments.

Users can restrict their search to a specific part or segment of a document, by (1) clicking on the Advanced Search link in the top right corner of the page or by (2) using the Big Red Search Box at the top of your page.

Advanced Search Forms

Advanced Search Forms enable users to construct a more focused and precise search. This feature will assist users by making precision segment search capabilities more intuitive and easier to access.

Advanced Search Forms are accessible from the "Advanced Search" link at the top right corner of the red search box.

This link will take users to the generic Advanced Search Form where they can find a case or QuickCITE record directly, or select specific search forms that are tailored to the particular content type that users wish to search. As illustrated in the "Cases" advanced search form below, each content-specific advanced search form contains fields tailored to that particular content type.
