What are the costs for legal research?

Lexis Advance Quicklaw is complimentary for all law schools in Canada. The majority of our customers are charged a flat rated monthly amount for their subscription. Some of these larger customers may choose to charge these costs back their clients either in full or at a reduced amount.

There is a cost even for the “free” platforms. Sometimes, using free access content does not provide accurate, full research results and as such can compromise the outcome for your clients in court. Lexis Advance Quicklaw is competitively priced in order to meet customer needs by offering advanced functionality, and trusted and accurate content.

How do I remember my username and password?
