Message Nuisance memo.pdf (104 KB)

Sir,

I work for Bennett Jones LLP in Edmonton and I currently represent Magna International Inc. in Smith v. Magna International, an action wherein Ms Smith is seeking a permanent injunction to prohibit certain noise inducing activities alleged to be occurring at the defendant's private corporate park, and for damages sustained by the alleged nuisance. The issue in the case is whether or not the present use of the defendant's premises comprises an actionable nuisance by which Ms Smith is entitled to injunctive relief accompanied by or independent of general damages. This matter was heard on January 3, 2012 in the Alberta Court of Queen's Bench by Justice Suzanne Bessier. She found on a balance of probabilities that some of the activities conducted in this park have, on an irregular basis, generated sound waves that reach the Smith property, of a decibel level that constitutes an actionable nuisance. Having reached this conclusion, she invited counsel to make submissions on the appropriate remedy. The hearing is scheduled for March 15, 2012.

I have been reviewing the caselaw in preparation for the upcoming hearing and I notice that you represented Bennett Jones LLP in similar actions reported [2000] F.C.J. No. 2093 and [2011] J.Q. no. 1987. I wonder if you might be available for a telephone conversation regarding the current state of the law in this area. In particular I am wondering if you believe the recent case of Strand Theatre Ltd. v. Prince Albert, reported at [2011] S.J. No. 372 and which I have attached hereto, is capable of changing the state of the law.

It is interesting to note that the penalties imposed by Alberta Regulation Alta. Reg. 233/89 s.3 were not claimed in this case and so are not in issue. Neither is the common law concept of nuisance discussed in the US case TULL v. UNITED STATES at 481 U.S. 412 which you know has been in the Canadian news lately.

I have attached a brief memo on nuisance for your reference.

I look forward to talking with you.

Best regards,
Kevin Campbell LL.B.
